

Voices from the Rwanda Tribunal

Official Transcript: Suzanne Chenault (Highlight)

Role:	Legal Officer and Juris-Linguist
Country of Origin:	United States
Interview Date:	4 November 2008
Location:	Arusha, Tanzania
Interviewers:	Lisa P. Nathan Donald J. Horowitz
Videographer:	Max Andrews
Interpreter:	None

Suzanne Chenault speaks on... crime of genocide

The transcript of the highlight begins on the following page.

- 00:00 Crime of genocide, which is articulated in our statute, and that is a crime that is perpetu-, that is perpetrated on the basis of one's ethnicity or race or a religious affiliation and you have to prove that the crime was committed because a, a person was a Tutsi. And how do we do that?
- 00:29 Very often it's just someone recalling that one of the accused who might be charged with incitement to genocide. He's asking the Interahamwe, "Come on. Go after 'em. Get the Tutsi. Exterminate them. Exterminate the cockroaches, the Inyenzi."
- 00:51 So that's the law that's been established about, about genocide and it's all of the facts that relate to how the court came to a determination that genocide was committed in that case.